  - a. Supervisor Nora Vargas:
    - i. Will be introducing an initiative addressing Climate Justice
    - ii. COVID-19 vaccines: Focused on equity of vaccinations and general health equity; the number of vaccines from the federal government is slow. San Diego County COVID Committee is focused on creating the infrastructure to ensure that all vaccines are used, along with increasing the number of vaccination sites; hardest hit communities need to be the focus for studying equity and barriers; people are in place to receive 211 calls, and provide direct contact to people in Tier 1 (age 75 and older) to help them get vaccination appointments; Supervisor Vargas proudly shared that the County of San Diego is among the highest in the state for vaccinations.
  - b. Mayor Pro Tem Ed Spriggs:
    - i. Shared his feelings of optimism and a more positive path forward for our country, along with a reminder that we have an urgent need for a renewed commitment to address disparities that have typified our national history; political ideology and deep divisions are preventing a pragmatic approach to disparities in Native American, African American and Latinx communities. MPT Spriggs also pointed out the growing political divide between urban and rural communities, as an example of discussions taking place within the League of California Cities; getting the “green light” at the federal level will continue to give impetus to communities wishing to address inequities.

- ii. Side/Related group discussion on the need for empathy and compassion in conversations as we begin to address the political divide here in Imperial Beach and elsewhere; MPT Spriggs concluded that we have “much work to do on a multi-dimensional challenge.”
  - c. Q & A
    - i. Topics addressed in the Q&A included: Further clarification on causes of disparity related to access and distribution of vaccine; MTS announcement of free rides for people showing appointments for vaccination; making changes in the online appointment scheduling system to address inequity and other challenges; infrastructure outpacing actual number of available vaccines; allowing younger POC to be vaccinated, thus having them as “trusted messengers” within their communities
