

National Republicans have found their latest scheme to rile of the Trump base and thwart California's efforts to fight COVID – recalling Governor Gavin Newsom.

Gavin's coming out swinging. He won't be distracted from California's important work of fighting the pandemic and vaccinating Californians. But he is going to fight, because there's too much at stake.

Let's call this recall what it is -- a partisan, Republican attempt to grab power in the nation's bluest state.

Governor Newsom has Californians' support. After leading the state through a global pandemic, record wildfires fueled by climate change and two years with Trump in the White House, he has earned the trust of voters.

But the consequences of a successful recall amid a global pandemic could be deathly serious for Californians. That's why Democrats, Progressives and Independents are united in stopping the Republican recall.

Who is Behind the Recall? Trump-Supporting Republicans

The LA Times and other news organization have reported how it is powered by a Republican coalition anti-vaxxers, QAnon conspiracy theorists, anti-immigrant Trump supporters and national Republicans.

POLITICO reported how one of the co-founders and chief organizers of the recall suggested it would be a good idea to "microchip" immigrants. "It works," he wrote, "just ask Animal Control!"

National Republicans like Newt Gingrich, Mike Huckabee, Rudy Giuliani and Devin Nunes have all publicly backed it. The Republican National Committee has even cut the recall a $250,000 check.

Instead of fighting COVID-19, Republicans are pulling a page from the Trump playbook and attacking Californians. In fact, a Republican recall will cost the state $100 million – money that could be used to help vaccinate our communities.

Governor Newsom's Pandemic Leadership Has Earned Him the Trust of Californians

Governor Newsom is boldly leading California through an unprecedented series of crises, including devastating wildfires, a national economic downturn and the worst pandemic in 100 years.

He is working every day against difficult odds to keep our families safe, distribute vaccines, protect families from eviction and provide billions in direct relief to individuals and struggling small businesses.

Under Governor Newsom's leadership, California is winning the war against the pandemic:

- California has administered over 11 million vaccinations
